

Living in a culture that focuses on materialism and instant gratification can be difficult for any Christian. We've all been there.

A 2006 study by Harris Interactive found that:

- 1 in 3 American workers does not believe they are saving enough for retirement
- The biggest challenge to saving is being financially stretched with other expenses.
- 1 in 3 workers don't know how much they need to save by the time they retire
- 2 in 3 workers feel that they don't know as much as they should about retirement investing

Financial mismanagement has been tied to excessive debt, bankruptcies, foreclosures, divorces, and many physical illnesses.

Your membership is no different than those surveyed. People want and need to know more about their finances.

The Church has done an exceptional job teaching Christians about tithing, but there is little said about properly managing the other 90%. The key to increasing tithes and changing lives is learning how to multiply the 90%.

Learning God's principles for maximizing financial potential is the way to a better life for your church members. It will empower them to live and give comfortably, support their families, and help others. Mastering money management will equip families and individuals to escape the bondage of lack and move into the realm of economic freedom.

Although financing is not my cup of tea, you made it a pleasure to be in your class. You brought a wonderful spirit and heart to financing. You were well informed and rehearsed. Thank you for all you poured into us. You taught me a task only the brave and anointed could handle.

I think these workshops are very beneficial. I did not grow up learning about finances. I have just become aware or rather knowledgeable about finances in my 40's. Although I have always wondered how people use their money, I believe this is my season. I thank God for this opportunity and for Ozeme. She has helped tremendously.

The entire series has been a tremendous blessing to our family and friends. Wisdom is knowledge! Keep up this ministry. If only we had this information so clearly explained in my early life, I would be in a different situation in my lifestyle.
